ABOUT THE GAME

There are two styles of Baccarat played at Crown; they are Traditional Baccarat and Crown Baccarat.

Traditional Baccarat and Crown Baccarat are distinguished by the different odds paid for winning Banker wagers. The style of Baccarat being played at a table will be displayed on the Table Limit Sign.

Throughout the Casino you may also see different sized Baccarat tables. Both styles of Baccarat may be played on these different sized tables. Tables may be designed to seat from seven to fourteen players.

Regardless of the table size in use, the game rules will always be consistent with the style of Baccarat being played.

HOW TO PLAY

The Dealer deals two hands, one to the Player and one to the Banker.

The aim of the game is to place a wager on the hand which totals nine or the closest to nine. You may place a wager on:

Player

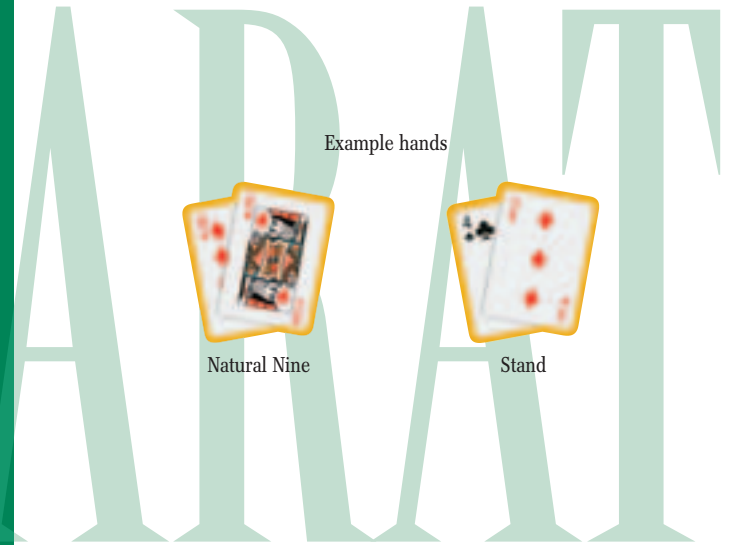

Banker

Tie

If you think that both hands will have the same total, choose Tie. You may place a Tie wager without having placed a Player or Banker wager or you may place a Tie wager in addition to your Player or Banker wager.

Place your wager in the area marked Player, Banker and/or Tie closest to your seated position on the Baccarat table.

Once all wagers have been placed, the Dealer will deal the initial two cards, alternatively, to the Player and Banker

HAND TOTALS

Tens, Picture Cards and multiples of 10 count as zero. When the card total is 10 or greater you use only the second digit to determine the value of the hand. Examples are $7+3=0$, $8+7=5$, $\text{King}+10=0$.

A 'Natural' is when the first two cards dealt to either the Player or Banker equal 8 or 9. Examples are $7+2=9$, $6+2=8$, $9+9=8$.

When a 'Natural' is drawn to either hand, no further cards are dealt.

After the initial two cards have been dealt, if required the Dealer will draw additional cards according to the Table of Play.
